ISSUE ADVISORY

How Should We Prevent Mass Shootings in Our Communities?

All members of the community are invited to join a facilitated forum and weigh in on questions such as:

- Should we restrict the availability of dangerous weapons, identify potentially dangerous people, and prevent them from carrying out their plans?
- Should people be prepared for violence and have the means to defend themselves against it?
- Should we restrict depictions of violence, mayhem, and shooting in video games and other mass media, such as primetime television?

This conversation has been framed to encompass several options and provides an alternative means of moving forward in order to avoid the polarizing rhetoric now growing around the major policy options.
